First Nations, Métis and Inuit Self-Identification Process

Voluntary and Confidential

(last updated December 2023)

Supporting our Students

The Superior North Catholic District School Board (SNCDSB) along with the Ministry of Education aim to support student achievement and well-being for our First Nations, Métis and Inuit students by following the First Nation, Metis and Inuit Education Policy Framework and the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada - Calls to Action.

Why Self-identification?

- To support high levels of achievement for First Nations, Métis and Inuit students.
- To provide opportunities for self-identified Indigenous students to access programming to meet their needs.
- To develop new programs relevant to the First Nations, Métis and Inuit population.

Who can Self-Identify?

For the purpose of voluntary self-identification, proof of ancestry is not required.

First Nation, Métis and Inuit are identified as:

First Nation

People who identify as being First Nation and/or of First Nation ancestry (includes both Status and Non-Status). It also includes those who identify with a First Nation community and/or ancestral land.

Métis

People who self-identify as Métis and/or of Métis ancestry.

Inuit

People who are descendants of one of the original peoples in Canada whose traditional territory and/or ancestry spans the Arctic.

I am First Nation, Métis or Inuit
